Catania's Capture Marked Beginning Of Axis Last Stand in Sicily Battle; Red Offensive Crumples Nazi Flanks; Yanks Continue Gains in Pacific Drive

SICILY:

Last Stand

Forty thousand Axis troops were all that were left to stand between the Allies and complete conquest of Sicily as the last phase of the battle developed. Of the 40,000, it was estimated that 35,000 were German and the rest Italian.

Although heavily outnumbered by the 10 Allied divisions reported in action, the Axis relied on strong natural entrenchments hewed into the rugged mountains to hold up the British-American drive. The advance against these positions was difficult, with the infantry slowly picking its way up the craggy but barren slopes in the face of stiff mortar and machine gun nests which had held their ground even after fierce Allied artillery barrage.

After being stalled for two weeks In front of Catania, the British 8th army spilled into the city after overcoming strong Axis positions set up along the several rivers winding through the country and in the tall fields of grain. John L. Lewis ment for payment of $1.25 a day to the miners for the time spent in traveling underground from the mine's entrance to the diggings. Lewis told the WLB that American coal miners are the only miners in any civilized country who receive no compensation for underground travel.

The agreement also calls for an eight instead of a seven hour day and a six-day work week, which, with the underground travel pay, would increase miners' daily checks by $3. Stating that 1,482 miners died from rinks in the pits last year and 72,000 were seriously injured, Lewis said the extra working hours would increase the men's exposure to such accidents. Furthermore, he declared, the miners received just ATT more a year than the lowest classification of government clerical WOTHERS.

FARM LAND:

Value Rising

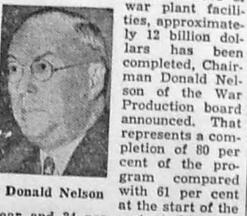

With the value of all farm land now above World War I level, government officials were becoming anxious over the possibility of another realty boom which would collapse with a disastrous drop in prices as in the twenties.

Between March and July of this year, farm real estate rose another 3 per cent. The increase occurred throughout all of the geographical regions and in two-thirds of the states. In Indiana, farm property sold 40 per cent above the 1935-39 average.

With commodity prices up onefourth within the last 12 months and farm income for 1943 expected to exceed 1942's record levels, farmers were said to be active buyers in the market. What with high commodity prices prevailing, speculators also were supposed to be purchasing property for resale. WAR ARSENAL:

Definite Foreign Policy Essential to America

The Issue: Shall Nation Adopt Policy of Participation in World Affairs or Shall We Aim at Nationalistic Goal?

By BAUKHAGE

WNU Service, Union Trust Building | Washington, D. C. Today America faces its first real problem as a world power. Italy lies before us. General Eisenhower, as commander of the Allied forces of invasion, suddenly becomes a statesman. He is a soldier. He can win battles. Now, he is the man ultimately responsible for directing American world policy.

What is American world policy?

Eisenhower is firm in his decisions, certain in his own procedure. because he is responsible only to his Commander-in-Chief. But who is his Commander-in-

Chief? Roosevelt. A man who may suddenly leave the scene in the midst of battle, if the American public so decrees. And then? Has America any firm foreign policy, unfettered by partisan political restriction, a clearmarked path that a fighting man or any other man can follow? In a few short weeks from now, a group of busy, hard-pressed men are going to sit down on Mackinac island and try to write what American foreign policy they think ought to be sponsored by the Republican These men have to face the question of committing the Republican party to a definite foreign policy. And paradoxically, by committing their party to a definite foreign policy, they may free both political parties of all commitment on foreign policy. For if the Democrats frame similar resolutions, they can save America from a vicious split-one which, if it is not avoided, will crash party lines and can destroy the twoparty system, the rock of our de-The issue which America faces is simple: shall we, as a nation, underwrite a policy which will implement our participation in world affairs or shall we retire unto ourselves and dell Willkie has become the symbol pursue the nationalistic policy which of the international view. says in effect: let the rest of the world stew in its own juice? Until we took the Philippines,

America was able to leave the great and vital problems which should have no political tinge, outside partisan politics. We have had other problems which have remained essentially non-partisan.

The Problems

Take labor. A vital question. But has labor ever voted solidly for one ticket or the other? No. The AFL will cast its traditional Republican bers will vote to support the administration. Others will vote as they

Slavery-really a labor question. That did nearly wreck the republic because it was made a partisan issue when it was not an issue at all! Many of the influential southerners were just as ready to free their slaves as the rabid abolitionists, heated with emotional fervor, failing to grasp the economic significance, were to force them to.

Again, unless a cold, calm discussion and understanding of the question of lower production, rather than tion of foreign policy takes place, we may face another split which, although it need not mean civil war, may mean a horrid dislocation of our whole political system.

When we went into World War II after Pearl Harbor, the word "isolationism" was forgotten. Today it has come back into our vocabularies and is being batted about, like other political footballs, by people who really don't understand its implications and are woefully ignorant of what dissension it may cause. Politicians want to overlook it.

They can't. This group of Republicans, headed by Deneen Watson, and a whole flying squadron of Demto operate from small, unimproved ocrats, too, are insistent that they landing fields and carry 4,500 pounds be allowed to "let the people know." of cargo at medium range. But They are going to speak their pieces. And the only hope of lifting this discussion out of partisan politics is a "settlement out of court," an agreement by both parties on a single foreign policy.

Let's get back to that hot and perspiring day in Washington late last month when Deneen Watson and of additional plane building, while his colleagues from this self-appointed Republican organization, the Reof transport designed are growing publican "foreign policy associa- movement which could wreck the tion," walked across quiet Lafayette two-party system, the rock on which park opposite the White House and our Republic is founded.

presented themselves to Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee.

Results of Session

It was some time before the results of this meeting between Watson and his colleagues and Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee leaked out. Those with an anti-Republican slant, wove the words dropped into a threatened split in the Republican party, a drive to nominate Wendell Willkie for president. To the person who tried to be objective, it was neither.

Mr. Spangler has one job-to keep the party together, to eschew any favoritism for any policy or any person. Naturally, these persistent persons who called upon him were presenting a problem. I believe it was that fact rather than what his critics said that indicated there was a leaning toward the "status quo" attitude, the desire to remain a purveyor of platitudes and follow the tide rather than to face it. This issue-full participation in world affairs versus a return to nationalism or isolationism, if you will -is, according to our most earnest non-partisans, the most important issue which has faced the public and should not be a political football. Briefly, what the men with their deeves rolled up at Mackinac in September have to face is this: shall we, good Republicans, come out frankly for world-co-operation or dodge the issue? What the Watson association demands is more than that and something the Republican national committee must face: will the party officially get behind a nation-wide campaign to "educate" the people on the international issue? Unfortunately, personalities do get mixed up in these things and Wen-

That is why it is essential, if the party is to take the issue out of partisan politics and disassociate it from any of the individuals aspiring for the Republican candidacy, that they must go on record.

The Monroe Doctrine

Walter Lippmann has written a book called "American Foreign Policy" and the point he makes is this: until 1900, politics did stop at the water's edge. We had a foreign policy (or thought we did) which was the Monroe Doctrine. Accordvotes in the coming election as it alling to Lippmann, we were living under a delusion. Namely, that we had under the Monroe Doctrine declared our whole policy-America for Americans (period) which implied, of course, that the rest of the world could do what it pleased so long as it kept off our grass.

We believed that we could enforce that policy ourselves. That was not correct. We were really depending on the British fleet to enforce it. It happened to be to British advantage to agree, so there was no trouble.

Then we mixed in world affairs, found we had to fight our own battles, and did it-took over Hawaii, the Philippines. But we didn't provide the means to hold them. And so, disagreeing on the various steps necessary to carry out our foreign policy, we failed to provide the means to do so-Britain was busy elsewhere, and one morning we lost the Philippines and came within an eyelash of losing Hawaii. And so we now face the necessity of framing a new foreign policy which must include the willingness to provide security for our own shores and those other contiguous shores (South America and Canada) which might be used by an enemy against us. Or we have to take part in prophylactic measures-to stop the danger to our security in advance.

That issue once clarifled by the two political parties will leave us free for a good, old-fashioned freefor-all political campaign, and if the best man wins, or the worst man wins, his policies can't affect the International welfare of the nation.

Failure of both parties to clearly set forth their views on foreign poli-

AMERICA-

A 'GOOD LAND'

OUR GRANDMOTHERS, our great-grandmothers and, in the case of we oldsters, our mothers, bought such food products as they needed for their families out of a barrel, a burlap sack or a pine box. They had but little choice. They could not call for some particular brand of coffee. There was one kind and it came in a burlap sack. It was green and had to be roasted in the oven before it could be used.

The men folks of those days, if they had a good job, would receive as wages as much as $10 a week, for which they worked 72 or more hours. There was no such thing as overtime at any price. They worked as long as there was work to be done. The wives and mothers of today demand the privilege of picking and choosing what they buy. They like the peas, tomatoes or peaches canned by one concern better than those canned by another. They want the breakfast food the family likes best. They have a choice in the way of a dentifrice. Each member of the family has a choice in the make of shoes he wears, and when Dad buys a car, he selects it by name and not by number.

The cost for variety, for the privilege of picking and choosing, is but like this, simply and easily. Use er paid, but Dad today makes nearer $10 a day, or more, instead of the $10 a week his father and grandfather were paid. Dad works 40 hours, not 72, and is paid time and a half for any additional hours.

"But," we say, "such a thing cannot happen to us. We do not want it that way and we will not have such a system."

We forget that group of theoretical bureaucrats has the authority to issue decrees which have the force of law. Of their own volition they can create a system in which they believe, unless congress—the senate and house of representatives-says "no." It is not unlikely that congress may fail to say that "no."

As it stands right now, that group of theoretical bureaucrats has authority by which it can change the whole American way of life. It is considered a war emergency measure, but once applied, it would take more years than those now liv-

Washington, D. C. 'FATHER' BARUCH

Gaunt, gray Bernie Baruch, whose elentless prodding of the war effort has saved more lives than anyone can estimate, is worried over a lot of things besides tanks, airplanes and machine guns. Among other things he is worried over the human problem of readjusting the lives of people who have flooded cities, who have been thrown out of joint by the war.

Sitting on his park bench in Lafayette park, where he holds "office" conferences, Bernie sees the stream of girls, thousands of them from all over the U. S. A., dumped into government offices, into crowded boarding houses, and wonders what will happen to them when the war is over.

Baruch won't tell you-but his friends will-about how he handled this problem after the last war.

He had employed several thousand clerks and stenographers in his War Industries board, and after the Armistice he began to worry about whether these girls were going back to their homes or would remain in the exciting cities.

So he sent each girl a letter thanking her for the time and loyal work she had given her country. And as a hint that she should go back to her mother he suggested: "Anyone who will apply at my office can receive a railroad ticket back home."

Baruch also attached to each letter a $10 bill. The railroad tickets were paid for out of his own pocket, since the government does not pay for personal transportation, and it cost Baruch many thousands of dollars. He was a little fearful that some of the girls might have taken the tickets, then turned them in to the railroad. However, he hoped that he might have the most popular pattern numbers. helped to get at least a fair proportion out of the city and back home.

The high cost of living which the coal miners have complained about recently was substantiated by an OPA survey of company stores in western Pennsylvania.

John A. Fath, who made the survey, came back with a report of "exorbitant prices and mark-ups" and insisted that company stores, which do no advertising or sales promotion, should sell their goods at lower prices than other stores, rather than

HONORS FOR WORKMEN

The Office of War Information is arranging a de luxe program for next Labor day, hailing the contribution of American workmen in the drive for victory. "Producing for Attack" will be the theme of the program, and it will include inspirational broadcasts by President Roosevelt and other top-ranking war lead-

However, this isn't the only labor show on the OWI schedule this year. Another special celebration for Labor, to be known as "On to Victory" day also will be observed within the next two months.

It was conceived by Maj. Paul Hines, chief of the labor branch of the Fourth Service command at Atlanta, Ga., and promoted by Hervey Allen, author of "Anthony Adverse."

All war plants will be asked to declare an "hour off" on "On to Victory" day, at which time special "War Merit" emblems will be awarded.

Climaxing the "On to Victory" programs will be a nation-wide broadcast in the evening-according to OWI plans-featuring such speakers as President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Generals MacArthur, Eisenhower and Doolittle and Admirals King and Halsey. Joseph Stalin and General Chiang Kaishek of China also may be invited to take part. All the speakers will have a special message for American labor.

The evening broadcast will conclude with the sounding of taps from the steps of the nation's Capitol, in memory of our war dead, and an answering taps by U. S. buglers in Europe and the South Pacific.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

THE STORY SO FAR: Edward Thomas Marion Lawton Hargrove, feature editor of the Charlotte (N. C.) News, has started his story of a private's tife in the army by giving prospective dough-boys some solid advice on what course pursue the days and nights before induction. He advises them to "paint the town red." On getting into the army he tells them "to keep your mind open" as the "first three weeks are the hardest." Like a job in civil life, says Hargreve, it's the first impression that counts. He has received his own induction notice and with a number of other soon-to-be-soldiers has completed the first day at camp. He is stationed at Fort Bragg, N. Carolina,

CHAPTER II

A soldier stuck his head through the door of our new dormitory and gave a sharp whistle. "Nine o'clock!" he yelled. "Lights out and no more noise! Go to sleep!"

"It has been, withal, a very busy day," I said to Piel, who was buried with his hay fever in the next bunk.

"It sure withal has," he said. "What a day! What a place! What a life! With my eyes wide open I'm dreaming!"

"It's been a little hellish out today," I agreed, "although it could have been worse. We actually saw a corporal and he didn't cuss us. We have eaten Army food twice, and, except for the haphazard way the pineapple was thrown toward the peas, it wasn't horrifying."

"I am broken and bleeding," moaned Piel. "Classification tests, typing tests, medical examinations.

The old serreant, his face beaming sweetly, purred, "You are now members of the Army of the United States. Now, damn it, shut up."

I think I walked eighteen miles through those medical examina- life?" my corporal asked me. tions. It's a good thing this is July I would have frozen in my treks with all that walking and exposure. Nothing I had on, except a thin little iodine number on my chest."

"Funny thing about the medical examination," a voice broke in from down the line. "Before you get it, you're afraid you'll pass. When you go through the examinations, you're afraid you won't."

"I noticed that," I said. "I don't have any special hankering for a soldier's life, but I thought when I was going through the hoops this deviling. morning that this would be a helluva time for them to back out."

"The little fellow who slept down at the end got sent back," said a loud whisper from across the room. "One of his legs was shorter than the other. He's a lucky dog."

"T'll bet he doesn't think so," said Piel. "At this stage of the game, I'm glad it was him instead of me." A dark form showed itself in the doorway. "I told you guys to shaddap and go to sleep. Do it!" A respectful silence filled the room for three minutes. "Look at me," said Piel. "Won't

I dwindled as rapidly as the one at] the dispensary, life would have loveliness to sell above its private consumption stock. First you're fifteen feet from the door, then (whiff) you're inside. Then you're standing between two orderlies and the show is on.

The one on my left scratched my arm and applied the smallpox virus. The only thing that kept me from keeling over was the hypodermic needle loaded with typhoid germs, which propped up my right arm.

From the dispensary we went to a huge warehouse of a building by the railroad tracks. The place looked like Goldenberg's Basement on a busy day. A score of fitters measured necks, waists, inseams, heads, and feet.

My shoe size, the clerk yelled down the line, was ten and a half. "I beg your pardon," I prompted, "I wear a size nine."

"Forgive me," he said, a trifle weary, "the expression is 'I wore a size nine.' These shoes are to walk in, not to make you look like Cinderella. You say size nine; your foot says ten and a half."

We filed down a long counter, picking up our allotted khaki and denims, barrack bags and raincoats, mess kits and tent halves. Then we were led into a large room, where we laid aside the vestments of civil life and donned our new garments.

While I stood there, wondering what I was supposed to do next, an attendant caught me from the rear and strapped to my shoulders what felt like the Old Man of the Mountain after forty days.

"Straighten up, soldier," the attendant said, "and git off the floor. That's nothing but a full field pack, such as you will tote many miles before you leave this man's army. Now I want you to walk over to that ramp and over it. That's just to see if your shoes are comfortable."

"With these Oregon boots and this burden of misery," I told him firmly, "I couldn't even walk over to the thing. As for climbing over it, not even an alpenstock, a burro train, and two St. Bernard dogs complete with brandy could get me over it."

There was something in his quiet, steady answering glance that reassured me. I went over the ramp in short order. On the double, I think the Army calls it.

From there we went to the theater, where we were given intelligence tests, and to the classification office, where we were interviewed by patient and considerate corporals. "And what did you do in civil "Private Hargrove," he said, "the army is just what you have needed to ease the burdens of your existence. Look no farther, Private Hargrove, you have found a home."

This was a lovely morning. We began at daybreak and devoted all the time until noon to enjoying the beauties of nature. We had a drill sergeant to point them out to us. We marched a full twenty miles without leaving the drill field. Lunch, needless to say, was deliclous.

We fell into bed, after lunch, determined to spend the afternoon in dreamland. Two minutes later, that infernal whistle blew. Melvin Piel, guardhouse lawyer for Company A. explained it all on the way downstairs. We were going to be assigned to our permanent stations.

I fell in and a corporal led us off down the street. I could feel the California palm trees fanning my and the corporal led us inside.

"Do we go to California, corporal?" I saked. "Nash," he said.

"Where do we go?" I asked him, a little disappointed. "To the garbage rack," he said. "Double quick." He thumbed John-my Lisk and me to the back of the barracks. At the garbage rack we found three extremely fragrant garbage cans. Outside, we found more. Link and I, citizen-soldiers, stared at them. The overcheerful private to whom we were assigned told us. "When you finish cleaning those, I want to be able to see my face in

The sun was affecting the private. "I much you're right," he said. He see painted them events and lettered I make some woman a good wife!

All afternoon, in a blistering sun, we painted garbage cans. The other Charlotte boys waved to us as they passed on their way to the ball

"Now can we go home, Private Dooley, sir?" asked Lisk. I looked at Lisk every time the blindness left me, and I could see the boy was tired.

The private sighed wearily. "Git in the truck," he said. Away we went back to our street. We stopped in front of our barracks and Private Dooley dismounted. "The truck driver," he said, "would appreciate it if you boys would go and help him wash the truck."

We sat in the back of the truck and watched the mess hall fade away behind us. Two, three, four miles we left it behind us. We had to wait ten minutes before we could get the wash-pit. It took us fifteen minutes to wash the truck. By the time we got back to the mess hall, we were too tired to eat. But we

It was through no fault of mine that I was a kitchen policeman on my sixth day. The whole barracks got the grind. And it was duty, not punishment.

It was all very simple, this KP business. All you have to do is to get up an hour earlier, serve the food, and keep the mess hall clean.

After we served breakfast, I found a very easy job in the dining hall, where life is much pinker than it is in the kitchen. A quartet was formed and we were singing "Home on the Range." A corporal passed by just as I hit a sour note. He put the broom into my left hand, the mop into my right . . .

There was a citizen-soldier from Kannapolis to help me clean the cooks' barracks. For a time it was awful. We tried to concentrate on the floor while a news broadcaster almost tore up the radio trying to decide whether we were to be in the Army ten years or twenty.

We finished the job in an extremely short time to impress the corporal. This, we found later, is a serious tactical blunder and a discredit to the ethics of gold-bricking. The sooner you finish a job the sooner you start in on the next.

The corporal liked our work, unfortunately. Kannapolis was allowed to the pot-and-pan polishing section. I was Themos Kokenes' assistant. He washed and I dried. Later we formed a goldbricking entente. We both washed and made Conrad Wilson dry.

Pollyanna the glad girl would have found something silver-lined about the hot sink. So did I. "At least," I told Kokenes, "this will give me back a chance to recover from that

When I said "mop," the mess sergeant handed me one. He wanted to be able to see his face in the kitchen floor. After lunch he wanted the back porch polished.

Jack Mulligan helped me up the last ten steps to the squadroom. I finally got to the side of my bunk, "Gentlemen," I said to the group which gathered around to scoop me off the floor, "I don't ever want to see another kitchen!"

The next morning we were classified and assigned to the Field Artillery Replacement Center. Gene Shumate and I were classified as cooks. PATCH TEST FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Parents do not like the idea of any test that means puncturing the child's skin with a hypodermic needle. Needless to say, the child dislikes the idea even more. However, the parents realize that it is important to learn if their youngster is of the type likely to develop tuberculosis, so that methods to prevent this may be immediately used. For years what is known as the patch test on the skin was used, which meant that tuberculin was placed on the skin and a patch of adhesive tape placed over it. This was considered a reliable test but what is called the Mantoux test, where hypodermic needle injects tuberculin under the skin, is now in more general use. In an effort to test the value of the patch test, Dr. Henry A. Reisman, Jamaica, N. Y., and Maurice Grozin, Flushing, New York, used it in 1,000 patients attending a hospital clinic. All were given both the patch and the Mantoux tests. The results were recorded in the American Journal of Diseases of Children.

The patch test consists of moistening a piece of paper toweling with tuberculin, allowing it to dry. This square of adhesive tape and then applied to the skin with paper moistive (child more likely to develop of God. tuberculosis) the skin is red, with little raised blisters which may the skin will likewise be greatly reddened if child is positive.

Our God is a God of order. To have order we must have law, hence God gave His people not only the fundamental law of humanity's moral sense of right and wrong, and the Ten Commandments which are the basis of all codes of law, but also those detailed regulations needed for the law's interpretation,

The law of God was not intended to establish a legalistic system of salvation by work, but, as revealed in the New Testament, it was to guide and bring us to Christ, in whom it finds its true fulfillment.

These are matters of fundamental importance and suggest the need of a careful study of our three Scripture portions.

I. The Law Established (Exod. 23:1-9).

At Sinai the Israelites were brought into the presence of God in a dramatic and solemn assembly to piece of paper is placed on a small hear the words of God from the mountain. Allied advances fiercely, as the bulk of their forces were evacuated.

In those last hours, the German rearguards' position became more precarious as daring units from Gen. George S. Patton's American 7th army landed behind their lines, and aided by naval batteries and dive bombers slashed their way through bayonets to firmly entrench themselves on shore.

Despite heavy anti-aircraft fire which was said to have thrown up a wall of steel, waves of Allied bombers hit the important industrial center of Milan. Terrific detonations could be heard on the Swiss border miles away as the bombers pushed their way through the flak to drop their incendiaries and block-

It was said increased movement do if you had to write a tax law.

Soak the rich? Well, they have the money and it hurts them the least, but unfortunately there are not enough of them to soak. It is too bad because they are so few in number that their votes don't matter so much. (Only 46,949 people or approximately one eight-hundredth of those with incomes earn over $10,-000 a year.)

Tax the rest? That will bring in the biggest total but they are the ones with the votes.

The President says we need 106 billion dollars to run the war this year. The treasury says that out of every dollar collected, 90 cents goes to pay the war bills.

So there have been a number of schemes concocted which are aimed at getting the nervous dollars, the ones most likely to create inflation. Presumably they are the dollars that belong to the people who are now getting a lot more money than they did before the war. It would be just to take the "excess profits" to pay for the war especially because the people who are getting a lot more than they are used to are the ones who spend most freely.

So compulsory savings has been suggested. That is, making Uncle Sam collect a part of everybody's income, which would be returned after the war. Then there is a scheme to tax spending. In other words, tax the dollars which are spent on extras, dollars that get back into circulation and push up the inflation spiral. Not the dollars that go into homes or life insurance or paying old debts, but the dollars that romp off for more clothes than you need to wear, more food and more gadgets than you ought to get along with in wartime.

Then there is another tax-the personal excess income tax, That is a tax on the amount of money that you are receiving now that you weren't receiving before Lacking Popularity

None of these methods is popular.

There is a sentimental objection to compulsory savings. It smacks, according to its opponents, too much of totalitarianism, of an interference with the individual's personal from that group.

it-and his wife agrees with himthe treasury is opposed to it.

The spending tax is said to be too complicated and likewise appears to be unpopular with the treasury. Then there is this personal excess income tax of which you will soon be hearing more. The chief objection to that tax seems to be that it is too hard to work out; that it is too hard to make it just and fair. Even the Nazis who tried it gave it up after about a year's trial.

When the personal excess income tax comes up, you will hear many arguments against it. Like many of these other "unorthodox" methods, it requires the establishment of what is called a "base period" to establish a comparison. That is, some period of time during which the amount earned by the individual is taken as a base. Then what he is making now is compared with that "base" and the difference taxed. But that is a pretty hard thing to work out because so many adjustments would have to be made for special cases that the government would never be able to examine each case and pass on it fairly.

Take the young doctor. The year before the war, he may have been graduated from medical school, Probably he had little or no income then. Then he begins to practice and in wartime, doctors are in demand. He may have made a fair income this year. Would it be fair to tax the "excess" if it were the difference between this year's earnings and the "base period" when he was earning nothing at all?

Too Many Inequities

Then there are many men who are getting more money now because they work longer hours or have received just and deserved promotions-all these things immediately come into the picture when you begin to straighten out the inequities, when you really try to tax a just percentage of a man's income.

And so the predictions which are being made in Washington now are that the next tax bill will be a pretty "orthodox" affair, it will simply have about the same kind of exemptions, a little higher percentage tax, and will be rushed through at the last minute after as many members of congress have objected to the clauses which they think will be unpopular with their constituents. The government needs the money and needs it quickly. The people don't want to be taxed any more than can be helped and the congressmen will lean over backwards trying to please the people.

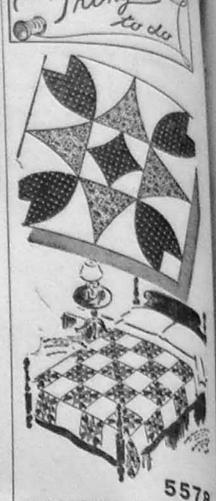

Meanwhile, the treasury tells us that most of the money which is being earned due to the great increase in production caused by the war is going to people whose incomes are less than $3,000 a yearseven-eighths of it. So at least seveneighths of the taxes ought to come

PRACTICAL LESSON ON INFLATION

WHEN YOU BUY a $100 war bond, you dig down into the old sock and produce cash that is in existence, cash for which you have worked and which you have earned. When the bond issue is floated through the banks, it is a different

The bank is told to take a million dollars worth of war bonds. It does that by placing on its books a million dollars to the credit of the government. For that the bank receives a million dollars in bonds. With these bonds as security, it issues a million dollars in new money. With the issuing of every million dollars of new money, we have added to the inflationary spiral. That spiral is a spring enclosed in a box. When the tension becomes too great, it will burst the lid off the box and out will spring the snake of extreme and uncontrolled inflation.

Remember a toy of childhood days -a snake in a box which jumped at you when you unfastened the lid? That was a harmless snake made of cloth. It did not, and could not bite. The snake that government financing through bank loans, or bank credits, has cooped up in the inflation box is not harmless. Should it break the fastening, it can, and will, bite. Its venom will poison all values and reduce us to a nation of paupers. When the people, rather than the banks, buy the bonds, there is no danger of inflation. In that way we can enjoy and retain our prosperity.

A SPENDTHRIFT IS A SABOTEUR

THE NATIONAL INCOME has jumped under the impetus of war production from around 70 billion to 143 billion dollars. It means the average income per individualman, woman and child-has increased from about $538 a year to $1,100. That can mean prosperity for now and some years in the future, or it can mean financial ruin.

It all depends on what we do with that increased income. If we attempt to spend it at this time, when commodities for civilian consumption are not available in quantities sufficient to meet such a demand, we but push the price to a point that means uncontrolled inflation and financial ruin for all of us. If we invest it in government securities and save it to spend for what we will want in years to come, or to invest later in stocks that will finance the peace-time production of after-the-war years, it will mean it honestly cool you already to think continued prosperity for the individ- of orange or lemon juice cool and ual and for the nation. NATURE LESSON

WHAT WONDERS nature provides for our enchantment! Across the street from my home, where I can look at it each day and each hour, is a great, wide-spreading magnolia tree. In the spring and early summer it is covered with magnificent blossoms - enormous, pearly white flowers, each as large as a dinner plate, with delicate pink centers. Their beauty is enhanced by a background of the greenest of shiny, green leaves. That tree is one of natura's masterpieces, more beautiful than anything made by man.

BONDS WILL BE PAID

THE PRESIDENT tells us it does set make much difference as to the wise of the national debt because we awe it to purselves and it is practheally no debt at all. Just the same, the millions of Americans who are patriotically boying war bonds expast to be and they will be repaid. The fallow who will pay it is the American taxpayer. If he has Sought bonds, he will be paying himsect. PLEURODYNIA-FALSE PLEURISY

Some years ago I wrote about an epidemic of pleurodynia in England. Pleurodynia is an inflammation with pain in muscles of the chest. It is sometimes called false pleurisy-pain in lower part of chest and upper part of abdomen, pain on breathing and with any movement of chest muscles. At that time it was considered an infectious disease, but as symptoms were light, lasted but a short time and no bad effects followed, nothing more was heard about it. It is interesting to learn that an epidemic of pleurodynia is reported in Brooklyn, N. Y. Cases of this disease began to appear in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn in July, 1942. To date at the Long Island College hospital, 166 cases were observed, of which 40 were admitted to hospital. Apparently there were more nose and throat symptoms in these Brooklyn cases than those reported in England, Norway and some parts of the United States. "The prominent symptoms in adults were fever, severe pain in upper right side of abdomen or lower part of the chest, or both, sufficient to make breathing painful and difficult. The abdominal symptoms were frequently so severe that surgeons were called into consultation. The recoveries were prompt, often within 24 to 48 hours, though further attacks of pain and fever often occurred." In a number of these adult cases, headache, dizziness, lack of interest and fear of light occurred.

In children, in addition to fever and pain in upper abdomen and lower chest, there was sometimes very difficult breathing, vomiting but no diarrhea, severe inflammation of the throat and quick and complete recovery. In most of the infants violent convulsions occurred. Fortunately for physicians, parents and child, the convulsions quickly disappeared.

I am passing this information along, as the symptoms are so severe that the patient suffers as much as if he had heart disease, pleurisy, gall-stone colic, or a surgical condition of the abdomen. That these symptoms disappear so quickly and leave no after effect is much for which to be thankful.

However, when these or similar When frozen, set cold control back symptoms appear, the family physician should first be called, as an examination will show whether they wilted you become. Nothing quite are due to pleurodynia or something

> How to Avoid Food Poisoning

In these days when the need and value of food is so much on our minds it is possible that in our efforts to get certain foods we may not watch as closely as we should the foods offered for sale.

The danger signals of food spoilage are: 1. Cans with bulging sides. 2. Glass containers showing seepage over the tops. 3. Food discoloration.

Because of canned goods shortage there has been considerable storing of canned goods, some of which may be kept for longer periods than in former years. It is then doubly necessary to make sure that the can has not become damaged, allowing entry of disease-producing organisms.

Suspected foods should never be tasted to discover spoilage, since even small amounts of some foods infested with organisms can cause illness or death.

Because of the shortage of cans and canned foods, there will be more home-food canners and home canners are reminded that canned foods must be thoroughly sterilized to safeguard against botulism, a highly fatal type of food poisoning which affects the brain. Formerly it was thought that botulism was caused entirely by raw or insufficiently cooked sausage, but lately most cases that have occurred involved vegetables; but fruit, meat and fish were also at times found to be the cause.

Fatal poisoning from commercially canned goods, however, is actually rare.

A further warning is given against buying illegally prepared or distributed ments as a disregard of the usual sanitary measures goes hand in hand with the sale of such prod-

* ANNOUNCEMENT

* FROM PULPWOOD COMMITTEE

HIS Committee is starting a drive to cut more pulpwood trees. The shortage is serious . . . and pulpwood is urgently needed for everything from blood plasma containers to parachutes . . . from shell cases to airplane parts . . . from gas mask filters to explosives.

Our Government is asking every able-bodied woodcutter and farmer to pledge 3 extra work days this year (at regular pay) to cut pulpwood . . . 2,500,000 extra cords are n. ded quickly.

This is a challenge to everyone of us in this community. We must not let our boys down. 3 EXTRA days' work are little to ask when our boys are out there giving their lives for their country.

Enlist today in this drive. Wear the button that shows you are in this fight. This is one way this community can help win this war.

Come to Committee headquarters or get in touch with any of these men. And do it quickly.

This pulpwood shortage is a national war emergency.

Watch Your Kidneys! Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—full to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Eymptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffuess under the cyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Dean's Pills, Doan's have been winning new Irlands for more than forty years.

They have a nation-wide reputation.

Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Are your neighbor!

"Thank You, Doctor!"

John was a very sick man a week ago. His family and friends were plainly worried. The outlook wasn't bright even after the doctor began his treatment, but then came improvement and now John will be back at work in his important spot as mine foreman within a short time.

THE CHAIN MUST NOT BE BROKEN

John's personal illness is of marked concern to Uncle Samthese days when everybody must keep well, stay on the job, do his full part for early Allied victory. The situation finds a parallel in our field of activities-Electric Service-where power must be made and supplied 24 hours every day, without interruption, for Victory. It also has its parallel in your home, your place of business, and classibers where electric appliances of all kinds must be kept in good repair, oiled, and in service to spend the victory effort. Neglected, these things will not he like John-they wen't recover- and then a vital link in the winning chain may be broken, for most of them cannot be replaced. Keep well yourself and keep your electric helpers on the job during this alliant drivet.

The sergeant's face showed that he was hurt. "You were on KP again today, weren't you, Hargrove?"

I lowered my eyes and scuffed my toe against the floor. "Yes, sir."

"Oh, I get so discouraged sometimes," the sergeant said. "I try so hard to make something of you and what good does it do? Every time I go through the kitchen I see you in there scrubbing the sink! How many times have you been on KP this week?"

"Only three times, sir," I said, avoiding his eyes.

"It was all the corporal's fault, sir," I said, looking around to make sure that the corporal wasn't there to defend himself. "Just because I right-faced a few times when I was supposed to left-face, and I zigged when I should have ragged, and because I forgot and smoked in ranks -and a few other things like that."

"The next exercise," says the sergeant, "Is what we call the quarter, half and full knee bend. It goes like this." He shows you. When you see it, the corners of your mouth go up in a sneer of derision (unless the corporal is looking). Ho Hum, you say to yourself. Why do they take up time with this play?

"Exercise - one, two, three, four-" Quarter, half, full recover. Your knees get That Tired Feeling after the third time. After the sixth time, you feel your eyes getting glassy. After the ninth, you're floating in space. By the time the exercise is over, nothing matters any more.

Before you have marched off the drill field you notice that you still haven't collapsed. In fact, you find to your disappointment that you're beginning to feel good. All limbered up.

Quarantine has been lifted for us of the July 17 contingency. If the sergeant wasn't looking over my shoulder, I'd say it's about time. Before our release from isolation, Army style, I was able to get around and swap lies and gripes with every one of the boys in our group.

A little under 100 per cent of them came up with the same account, which reads as follows: "Our battery has the worst food in the Army. We've got the worst sergeant in the battery. No kidding, though, our platoon makes all the others look crummy. Here two weeks already and I haven't pulled KP or had the sergeant jump me a time yet. Don't tell a soul, but I think they're going to make me a corporal." All of which is a lot of hot air.

Actually, they're fighting to get into the mess hall first at every meal. They're gaining weight and tanning where they used to blister. They're sassing their sergeants, who deplore them as the sorriest bunch

The corporal mopped his brow. "Well, Private Hargrove," he said, patting me lovingly on the shoulder, "you'll find use for it. Ha! ha! In the first place, you can peel potatoes with a bayonet. And in the second place-if you're as good a cook as you are a soldier-you'll need it every day. After breakfast, lunch, and supper you'll need it to protect yourself from murder at the hands of your comrades in arms."

"See here, Private Hargrove," the sergeant sighed. "Can't you try just once to do something right? Don't you want to be a credit to the platoon? You don't want us to be the worst bunch in the battery after we've been the best for so long, do you?" "Please, sergeant," I begged him,

ISRAEL'S SIN AND RESTORATION

LESSON TEXT-Exedus 22:7-10; 34:4-9, 27, GOLDEN TEXT-The Lord is long-suffering and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and transgression.—Numbers 14:18.

God is righteous, and cannot look with approval or in forgiveness upon sin until His mercy has been stirred and set free to act by repentance, Then He whose wrath is hotly kindled against man's transgression shows Himself as the tender and gracious God, "keeping loving-kindness for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin."

This grace of God is fully revealed in Christ and the redemption which He brought to man, but is prefigured in the experiences of Israel under the law.

I. God's Wrath Kindled (Exod. 32:7-10).

There are those who would have us think of God as a benevolent old gentleman who is easily hoodwinked by clever sinners who can talk fast to cover their iniquity. Even if He does see it, He is supposed to be so tenderhearted that He overlooks their sin.

Such folk had better read these words, "That my wrath may wax hot." The wrath of God is a real and awful affection of the divine nature and it is revealed against man who sins against His holy law.

The special sin of Israel on this occasion was idolatry, which is the setting up of some material symbol to represent the invisible God. Moses had been with God in the mount for 40 days. He had been the Lord's representative in their midst. His presence had evidently been the chief stabilizing influence. Having their eyes set on a man, or a material object to take His place, they had lost sight of the invisible God. So they proceeded to establish this idol which would provide a center of worship. At first it was evidently intended to remind them of God, but soon it led them out into heathen revelry (Exod. 32: 6, 17, 18).

Whatever a man puts between himself and God, even though he may at first intend it to be but a reminder of God, will lead him away from God. Ritual, symbols, theology, scholarship, all good in their places, may become the idols which to remember, private, these few separate present-day man from

II. God's Mercy Invited (Exod. 34:4-9).

Aaron had only a weak "alibi" to offer. The golden calf had practically made itself (see Exod. 32: 24). How quick man is to justify himself instead of admitting his guilt. No doubt our excuses sound just as silly as Aaron's in the ears dealt with in drastic fashion. When one deals with a wild ravenous beast, there is one remedy-"shoot to kill." Not only were the leaders of the wickedness slain, but the ground gold of the calf image was put into water, which all Israel drank. Thus were they all marked as sharing the guilt of this idolatry. There is a lesson here for us. America is far from God. We need begun his rounds. He was waiting let us remember that we (that is, Christian men and women) are a part of America. It is our guilt, and we ought to be on our faces before God, pleading for God's mercy upon our land.

people. He is the intercessor, the intermediary. God had a man who had compassion and love in his heart, and the Lord heard him. Loving-kindness and tender mercy flowed forth in place of flaming

Note that God has not changed. He is the unchangeable One. His wrath is still hot against man's sin, but man has repented, and moved out of God's wrath into His love and grace. That too is always being shown to His obedient children.

III. God's Covenant Renewed (Exed. 34:27, 28),

Moses had broken the first tablets of commandments. The people had sinned and were not then ready to listen to any word from Jehovah. But now they were prepared to receive it, and God renewed the caveement as He again gave Moses the Reasons for the early mailing dates are: The vast distances that the parcels must travel to reach our men at war fronts and stations the world over: frequent transfers of thousands of men from one location to another,

The only way to insure against disappointment for the fighting men is to buy at once and mail early-mail your gifts as soon as possible after the September 15 starting date.

Those who have relatives or friends in the service should remember that we have fighting men in Alaska, Greenland, Iceland, England, Sicily, far-separated regions of Africa. the Near Eastern countries, Australia, many of the South Pacific islands, India, China, South America, and other areas.

Weeks are required for a ship to can be no assurance, of course, that the first ship sailing for any of these locations will have space available to carry Christmas parcels. Gifts may have to wait until vitally needed supplies and equipment have been Private John R. Doe (Army Ser. No.) shipped, to assure victory and to save the lives of our men. If the parcels are not mailed early, that delay may

Christmas obviously is not at his best. Rules for Christmas mailings to the the maintenance of the country's column the last few weeks, due to the fighting forces overseas were made fighting planes, public recently for the guidance of carly shoppers. They include: The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christman parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may he mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

The parcel must be well and strongly packed, in a container of metal, wood, strong fiber board, or similar material, then wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. The cover should be such that it can be opened readily for consorship. The contents should be packed tightly. Perishable goods, such as fruits that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Since the armed forces are being plentifully supplied with food and clothing, the Army and Navy recommend against these as gifts.

Addresses must be written clearly and completely. In addition to the return address of the sender, a parcel for an Army man should show the reach many of these stations. Miners on Trial

Thirty miners who appealed for dismissal of indictments against them for conspiring to conduct a strike in government held pits on the grounds that the Smith-Connally anti-strike law was unconstitutional, were denied their motion and ordered to trial by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Pittsburgh.

Judge Schoonmaker answered the miners' contentions that the law violated the constitutional provisions for freedom of speech and against involuntary servitude, by declaring that the government's war powers were unlimited.

To the miners' charge that the law would prevent them from discussing working conditions in any plant, the government attorney contended the crime of sedition was almost always committed by the utterance of words alone. But that did not prevent punishment for such speech, he said.

Peace Planners Emphasize Need for Orderly 'D' Day

Planning Board Report Envisions Reintegration Of Men Into Services Where Skill, Ability Are Recognized.

> By BAUKHAGE Neses Analyst and Commentator.

Next week's release of "Washington Digest" will be written from Quebec, where H. R. Bankhage covered the historymaking Roosevelt-Churchill conference for Western Newspaper Union and its affiliated news-

WNU Service, Union Trust Building Washington, D. C.

As the plans which received their final approval at the Quebec conference start turning from ink and paper to moving men and machines, the thoughts of other planners turn toward another zero hour-"D" day. The war is not over by any means but hard-headed people who realize that you can't walt until it rains to prepare for a rainy day know that you can't wait until the sun comes out to buy your summer clothes. "D" day is as important as "M"

day. Demobilization is as big a problem as mobilization. Various plans have been worked on, none has been perfected. The President has offered one. The Republican party will offer another. Industry will present its program. The administration, whoever is at the helm when peace comes, will have a heavy responsibility. The National Resources Planning board has already made a report expressing its opinions on a plan drawn up by a special committee on post-war readjustment which, at least, gives us a point of departure.

Plan Needed Now

The board points out that victims of the war are already coming back and the time is ripe. Only the other day, I went through Walter Reed hospital here and saw some of those victims. Saw photographs of the conditions in which they come back and others showing what medical skill has done for them. I also saw the workshops where wounded men are being rehabilitated, fitted to take up work which, in spite of their handicaps, they could learn to do. This plan emphasizes the need for an orderly demobilization. It is important to get every man who can be spared from the armed forces, the moment he can be spared with- lazy.) But it is estimated there out threatening the nation's security, were 900,000 persons jobless and de- courtroom, but not at the er back into civilian life. I know how glad I was when I got out of uniform into civvies after the last war.

But the report emphasizes that still more important than speed is order in demobilization. "We not only want the men out of the armed services; we want to get them into peace services where skills and abilities can be fully recognized, uti-lized and rewarded." That is the thesis of the planning board.

Responsibility for the placement of veterans in industry is acknowledged by the re-employment division of the selective service system under the selective service act. The selective service system is not perfect but considering the job it had to do, it has worked out in a manner that is a triumph of the democratic method. Draft boards are groups of "neighbors" who pass upon each registrant, and on that basis, select or reject him. The same system will put the soldier back into his old job -if his old job is there, and if he can fill it. But many had no jobs, Others for one reason or another will be unable to fill the ones they had before the war. These cases must be taken

Business has been shuffled and shifted about just as the men themselves have. It may be difficult to get man and fob together. The problem is intricate but the committee has tried to lay down certain principles. Here they are:

1. Three months' furlough at the end of the war at regular base pay not to exceed $100 a month, plus family allowances.

2. Beyond that time, if necessary, unemployment insurance for 26 the government employment serv-3. Special aid and counsel regarding readjustment and compensation. 4. Special provision, including tuition and allowance, for the continuation of education interrupted by the war or to follow a special course of training.

5. Veterans credit for old age and survivors' insurance on the basis of 8. Opportunities for agricultural employment and settlement for a limited number of well-qualified men. But no dumping of men on farms simply because industrial employment is not immediately avail-

Re-Training Program Similar provisions must be made for war workers as war industries close or change over. Meanwhile, the government will maintain centers where assistance and re-training for civilian jobs can be arranged. In order to prevent a too rapid attempt at change-over of industry, a moderate policy of continuation of war contracts some of which can be continued in the national good.

Of course, nothing can be done permanently to stabilize the labor situation without a rapid expansion of peace-time industry toward a goal of full employment. It is well understood even by the most fervent of government planners that private industry and not the government must eventualy furnish the employ-

Already industry is offering plans of its own but it cannot be expected to do the whole job. One suggestion is that government loans be made to industries turning to peace-time production in proportion to the number of men such industries employ. Business cannot take over the burden alone. In 1939, we were at peace although we were making a lot of war supplies for the Allies. Then 4.1 million workers were employed in munitions making. Eight his business of tin-roofing. and six-tenths millions were working on farms or agricultural pur- for some time." suits. At the end of last year, the workers in war plants had more than doubled. They were 10.5 millions. In agriculture, unemployment has not greatly changed, comparatively speaking; farm workers amount to 8.9 millions. But the men in the armed forces more than doubled. In the same period the unemployed had decreased from 8.7 millions to 1 million. mittee's plan to which objections will be raised. It is not offered as a working drawing, merely as a basis of discussion, but how much better such a procedure is than the policy after the last war when the soldier was a football and where each congress tried to vote more dollars out of the treasury without rhyme or reason; money which didn't provide jobs, which in many cases, pitifully failed of its purpose, and in others simply filled the coffers of the bootlegger and the shark and left the recipient nothing.

Diary of a Broadcaster

Over the land, the Victory gardens are bringing in their rich yields to many a person who probably never worked as hard-physically-for his supper before. And probably never had more fresh, sweet and luscious vegetables. But I wandered over a farm recently that was crying for rain. I couldn't help thinking, as I pushed through a wood lot beside a shrunken stream, stained brown from the yellow leaves that carpeted it, how all the living things were anguishing with thirst. Twigs snapped under one's feet like dry bones, there was an ugly growl instead of a happy hum from the insects-it seemed that only the tough blue-bottles could survive. Not far from the stream where the earth in the bed of a spring was still damp, one cricket was singing gratefully but there were few of his fellows about, Leaves on tall weeds hung to the stem like a flag at half-staff on a day when no breeze stirs, one yellow-headed flower stood out in a spot weeks for those who register with of color, it looked like a very sleepy little girl, her damp locks glued to her face almost concealing her tired smile.

I thought: "I wish I could stay here until the rain comes singing through the leaves, wetting cracked lips of the peeling furrows-I believe I would hear a real hymn of rejoicing go up."

how 'sport' got its beginning-just how it happened to start?" We had never thought much about this before. To be certain we called upon a famed historian who had the right answer. You would never guess it," he said.

Many people believe that sport drew Jack Dempsey its beginning for the sake of physical development, or as part of war training. This isn't true. Sport came directly from religion. "In the pre-dawn age of man certain forms of spiritual exercises came along. These were accompanied by certain phases where masses

What 'Athlete' Means

"How many know," our expert continued, "just what 'athlete' first

"It indicated training and competition in preparation for war. Early Greeks were smart enough to discover that good boxers, wrestlers, runners and jumpers made the best soldiers. Sport gave them an edge in speed, stamina, quickness, and all reflexes needed for action.

"Hitler used the Greek idea in getting ready for this war.

"He began training not a few thousands, but actually millions of boys and young men over ten years ago. Up to 1936, Germany had always been the biggest Olympic flop, eating. And one of the most drawinning practically nothing. But seven years ago that country had fall dinners is the eggplant-smooth, one of the strongest all-around deep purple and shiny in appear-Olympic teams ever sent into competition. It was this, plus her hard mechanical strength, that gave Germany her terrific army in 1941.

A Lesson to Follow

This is a lesson the United States can use-sport, competitive athletic exercises for the millions in place of the few.

We need a far greater all-around development of those youngsters ranging from 12 to 20, where millions today get little chance to play developing games.

As Jack Dempsey told me at his esast guard headquarters, "Of the 3,000 men I am trying to help train, less than a thousand have played any games, boxed, wrestled, or indulged in football or baseball. Naturally, they are clumsy, awkward, slow, and lacking in confidence at the start.

"You should see the difference just a few weeks means when they find out that a punch on the chin or a head hold doesn't kill them, also when they learn to throw a few punches on their own. It never ocsurred to me before what a big part of our young population never had a chance to get physically and mentally equipped for contest games."

Some one in authority should go to work along these lines.

GOVERNMENT OPERATION

THROUGH BUREAUS THE AMERICAN CONSTITU-TION provides that our laws shall be enacted by congress, enforced by the executive branch of the government and interpreted by the judiciary department. However, it does not entirely work that way today.

Some 10 years ago congress began passing along to the President its authority to make laws. He was given authority to issue executive orders covering many subjects, and these executive orders are as much a part of the law of the land as are the laws passed by congrees.

During the past 10 years there have been 3,279 of these executive order laws promulgated by the President. During the session of the last congress, 1941-42, there were 850 laws enacted by congress, and in that same period, the President issued 667 executive order laws. Since the American declaration of war and up to the first of July of this year, congress passed 587 laws, and in that period the President issued 387 executive orders.

Between the legislative and executive branches of the federal government new laws are being produced so rapidly that even competent attorneys cannot keep up with the pro-

The President was given authority to establish governmental bureaus and agencies which are accountable only to the President. Seventy-one such alphabetical agencies have been created by executive orders.

About the only two subjects on which congress has not passed its authority over to the President are those of taxes and appropriations. Congress can, and has in a few cases, called a halt on the bureaucratic agencies by withholding money to pay the costs of their operation. In some cases, the President found it possible to continue the bureaus of which congress disapproved by paying the bills from the war emergency fund which was provided for his use and for which he did not have to render an accounting. For this war emergency sugar. Add cream and sprinkle with fund congress has provided $631,000,-000 since July, 1940. When another $25,000,000 was asked for, it was granted just before the present re-Another vegetable comes in for cess, but in doing so, an unruly senate tacked onto it a provision that no one part of the amount could be used to pay the expense of operating any bureau for which congress had refused a direct appropriation. nearly as loud as that within a For the President it was take it with plane with engines, owing to the that provision, or not at all. Because of that action, some of the bureaucrats may be off the payroll.

STANDARDS OF LIVING

WE LAMENT the condition of what we say is a submerged onethird of our American population. As compared with nine-tenths of the people of China and others of the Far Eastern nations, the submerged one-third of America are living in the lap of luxury. If the condition of our own submerged is to be improved it must be through greater production and better methods of distribution.

Our agricultural scientists and engineers have done, and are doing, their part. Through development of fall tang to it, and is excellent improved strains they have multiserved with fried eggplant and apri- plied our acre production. By the application of machinery they have reduced the needed per acre man hours of labor. But the statesmen and economists have not solved the problem of distribution between nations. While the people of the Orient starve, we suffer from a crop surplus.

When the standard of living can be raised in China and the Chinese people have money or credit with which to buy the food and other things they need, our increased production will take care of our submerged one-third. Higher wage scales abroad mean more markets for American farms and more jobs for American workers.

OUR FIRST ACT IN SICILY, after getting a foothold on shore, was providing food for the starving people, That should weigh heavily in our favor and cause other people in Europe to hope to be captured. It was a case where the American farm was doing more for the Allied cause than the American munitions plant.

TIME MAY, and probably will change conditions, but for some years, following the firing of the last shot of the war, the United States, the British Empire and Russia must guide the policies of the world. It must be an armed and unified guidance if we are to escape more and greater wars.

THOSE THRIFTY SOULS who saved for a rainy day and are dependent on returns from their savings, appreciate the advantages of a victory garden. It means they can continue to eat. SELFISHNESS ON THE PART of the individual, the community, class, nation or race; the desire for an advantage over others, for more than a fair share, is the cause of more beartaches, more ills and difficulties than any other one thing. It usually boils down to the individual.

SOME of your garden favorites framing your initial will bring decoration and color to your linens. A pair of pillow cases or guest towels done this colorful way would make an ideal shower gift! It's all simplest stitchery.

Pattern 7573 contains a transfer pattern of six 4 by 5 inch frames and two 1% inch alphabets; stitches; materials needed. Due to an unusually large demand and surrent war conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers. Send your order to:

Noisy Gliders

Noise within a closed glider traveling at 150 miles an hour is violent agitation of the air as sweeps over the wings and about the fuselage, says Collier's. This noise, in many instances, has reached a level of 115 decibels, or higher than that in a boiler fac-

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Rubber shortage will cause motor trucks to be operated this year only 60 per cent of their 1941 mileages, according to OWI. Ton mileage haul in intercity service, however, was up 10 per cent early this

Rubber latex, a milk-like substance, contains from 30 to 40 per cent solids; cow's milk has only 12 per cent solids.

Add lettuce to the list of rebber producers! Tests of three varieties of lettuce by the University of California, it has been reported, showed high content of rubber latex.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

THE STORY SO PAR: Private Marion Hargreve, late of the editorial staff of the Charlotte (N. C.) News, has been inducted into the army, classified as a cook and has spent a large share of his "spare" moments on KP duty. He has taken time out, however, to advise prospective doughboys to "paint the town red" before induction and once in the army to "keep an open mind" as the "first three weeks are the hardest." His constant assignment to KP is the despair of his sergeant who believes Hargrere will never tearn to be a crack oldier. His inst experience was a rifle inspection in which he fared badly. Now he begins a new episode concerning advancement in rank.

CHAPTER IV

Selectee Joseph G. Gantt, late of Liberty, South Carolina, came out for reveille this morning with a grin you could have used for a foot rule. He held both his arms against the front of his shirt in a queerly strained posture and blushed happily every time someone looked at

"The heat's got the boy," I told Gene Shumate. "Looks like the best ones always go first."

"That ain't the heat," said Cookie. "He seems to have a cramp in his arms." We looked at Citizen-Soldier Gantt's arms again. Then, for the first time, we noticed two shining stripes on each sleeve. Citizen-Soldier Gantt was a corporal now!

"Heavens to Betsy," we shouted in unison for his benefit. "Is that punk a corporal?" Corporal Gantt acknowledged the tribute by joyfully changing his color to a holiday

The corporal passes the buck by scalding the ears of the All of them." private. The private doesn't even have a mule to kick, so he can't pass the buck any farther. He keeps it.

That makes him a buck private. The Army, I find, has many subtle ways to trap the unwary into volunteering for work. First there was the sergeant over at the Reception Center who came through the recreation hall one afternoon calling for "Private Smith." Four men answered. All four were put to work picking up cigarette stubs.

On the call, "Anybody in here know how to handle a truck?" don't speak up. The last three were seen later pushing a hand truck up the battery street to haul rifle racks.

Corporal Henry Ussery is to date the most dangarous conscriptor. This week he came into the squadroom to ask if anyone was good at shortmand. Three citizen-soldiers admitfed that they were.

"Report to the kitchen," the corporal laughed. "The mens sergeard says he's shorthanded on dishwashguard is instructed to give the "halt" order three times and then shoot. Over-enthusiastic rookies from the known to go like this: "Halt halt halt! Ka-POW!" (You can believe it or leave it; I never question what the sergeant says.)

There was one rookie guard, he said, who halted him, questioned him and allowed him to pass. After he had gone several steps, the sentry again shouted, "Halt:" Sergeant Taylor came back and wanted to know-politely, of coursehow come. "My orders," said the guard, "say to holler 'Halt' three times and then shoot. You're just on your second halt now!"

The other popular expression is the come-a-running call that goes up the line to the guardhouse when a guard takes a prisoner or "meets any case not covered by instruction" (General Order No. 9). If the guard is on the seventh post, he sings out, "Corporal of the guard! Post number seven!" The guard on the sixth post picks up the cry and it goes down the line like that.

There's the story about the officer of the day who questioned a new sentry, as officers of the day frequently do in order to test the sentries. "Suppose," the OD asked, "that you shouted, 'Halt' three times and I kept going, what would you do?"

The guard was apparently stumped by the question. Finally he answered, "Sir, I'd call the corporal of the guard."

The officer of the day gloated. "Aha!" he said. "So you'd call the corporal of the guard, would you? And just why would you call the corporal of the guard?"

This time the answer was prompt and decisive-and correct. "To haul away your dead body, sir!" Heroes are born, not made.

There's one job here that is nothing but goldbricking in itself. That's the latrine orderly detail. You go to work after lunch and spend the rest of the afternoon watching the fire in the water heater and feeding it regularly-every two hours. The next morning you sweep and mop the washroom and spend the rest of the time until lunch watching the fire again. All in all, you lead a lazy, carefree existence.

There was a slip-up somewhere yesterday. I was latrine orderly instead of a KP. It was probably the mess sergeant's idea.

The boys started out after lunch for an afternoon of drilling in the warm Carolina sunshine and learning to drive trucks across ditches.

An hour later, I decided to take a casual look at the boiler. When I opened the furnace-room door, a army exactly four months. He had struck me to the ground. I lay been an acting corporal for three there for several minutes, tapping my forehead thoughtfully, while Heaven grant him strength for more smoke poured out.

When it still hadn't slackened after five minutes, I crawled under the layer of smoke to the boiler. pouring nonchalantly through clinks in the door.

"Don't come telling me about it," said Sergeant "Ma" Davidson. "Take out the pipes and clean them.

I had to see the top sergeant to get my instructions. When I returned to Sergeant Davidson I was happy again.

"Ma," I told him, "the top kick says for you to supervise the job." The sergeant was furious with rage and frustration. I grabbed a screwdriver and he grabbed Private Downer, who had a black mark by his name for not wearing his identification tag. The three of us started work.

First, put out the fire in the boiler. Shake it down, throw ashes on it. It still burns. Shake it down more, throw sand on it. Still burns. Close the bottom door, shake it down more, throw ashes and sand on it. Curse it. After too long, it dies.

The man who devised the system for connecting an indoor boiler and an outdoor chimney should be parched with his own pipes and stuffed with oily soot.

and wiping the interior regions of all the pipes, they're ready to go to place and the last one is ready to be fitted. Cureful there! Easy, now! Watch out! Catch R! CRASH! The boys come in from the drill field at 4 30 and head for the show-

Finally, you decide to give in. You wipe your hands—an operation which takes a good three or four minutes for satisfactory results. You lift your hand to scratch your nose, only to find that your nose isn't itching any more. I was doing fairly well this morn-

Pain in Shoulders, Arms and Neck

During the last war, among soldiers and civilians there were many cases where the patients suffered with pains back of neck, in shoulder and down the arms to the hand. It was thought to be a form of rheumatism or arthritis, and teeth, tonsils, gums, gall bladder and other parts were carefully examined but often no cause could be found. Finally an X-ray of the neck, chest and shoulder showed in some cases a "short" or extra rib which was causing pressure on the nerve which accompanies one of the muscles running from the top of the first rib to spinal bones in back of neck. The gave instant relief in these cases.

In Archives of Physical Therapy, Dr. K. G. Hanson states that this group of symptoms called cervicobrachial syndrome (name of the nerves involved) may be due to: the muscle and nerve room between tion. the bones of the shoulder, (2) extra rib or a rib or spur on the neck spinal bone where there should be no rib or spur, (3) pressure on the muscle running from first rib to spinal bones in neck, (4) poor posture, standing or sitting which makes a pull on the bones where this muscle is fastened at back of neck. It is this pull that causes the pain in practically all cases because the patient lets himself sag. The treatment, naturally, would be to remove this pressure and this is obtained by rest and support during the acute or severe stage. Then exercises are given to hold the shoulders high-arms in line and above the shoulders, rolling of shoulders-arms at full length in line with shoulders; standing and sitting of verse 3. erect, shoulders high and back, chest out, chin in. Heat is applied before and after exercise. This will help 65 per cent of the cases.

> Such rightness with God shows it self in a rightness with others, which we note as our second point:

II. Holiness of Life Before Men (Lev. 19:11-18, 32-34). How intensely practical and workable in daily experience were the laws here given to Israel. They are just as apropos to our present day. 1. Honesty (vv. 11-13). No stealing, no perjury, no lying, no oppression, no withholding of wages, none of these could be tolerated, for they dishonored God's name. Think what the elimination of dishonesty in dealing between men would accomplish. Most of our social problems would be solved overnight. Merchants would do well to read verses 35 and 36 in this connection.

2. Kindness (v. 14). The deaf cannot hear what we say about them, nor can the blind see what we removal of this spur, or short rib, do. But the eternal God hears and sees, and He expects us to be kind to them.

3. Fairness (vv. 15, 16). Some assume that a man must be right because he is rich. Others are equally sure that the poor are al-(1) high first ribs which do not give ways worthy of special considera-

Note the condemnation of the talebearer. Every gossip who reads these words knows that God condemns that evil practice. Nor does He countenance indifference to the welfare of others. Their blood cries out to Him for deliverance (v. 16).

4. Love (vv. 17, 18). "Love thy neighbor as thyself." That is the standard. How much have we done to meet it? A rebuke may be necessary, but love will not permit grudges, or the seeking of vengeance, even when we have been wronged. 5. Respect (vv. 3, 32). God's Word always stresses the need of a right attitude toward parents. Children need to learn anew the lesson

Then there are the aged (v. 32). Old age pensions doubtless have their place in our complex social order, but perhaps they would not be needed if men and women honored the hoary head and the face of an old man.

A pension does not take the place of honor and love for the aged, even though it may pay the bills. God has high standards.

8. Consideration (vv. 33, 34). The man who knows God will not be party to taking advantage of a stranger. He remembers that he too has been a stranger. To meet with loving kindness and tender care when one is in a strange place should inspire one to go and do like

Washington, D. C. CHINESE BLACK MARKET

If you think the U. S. Black Market is profitable, take a look at operations in China. A fountain pencosts $10,000 Chinese currency in Chungking. Even with the Chinese dollar worth only five cents this is $500 in U. S. dollars and a let of dough to pay for a fountain pen. You can also understand why U. S.

fliers load up with lipstick before going to China. A lipstick brings $5,000 in Chinese dellars in Chungking. This is about $250 in U. S.

This is also why lend-lease has sent a certain amount of silk stockings, champagne, perfume and other luxuries to Chinese war lords. They are sent to counteract similar Imports by the Japanese which have a very undermining influence on a war lord worried over maintenance of his love nest.

RUBBER DELUGE

Officials in the office of the rubber administrator are beginning to wonder what they can do with the hundreds of thousands of tons of synthetic rubber which will come from the new plants next year. It seems a little late, but they are new facing the elementary question of whether or not the tire companies can handle the vast quantities of synthetic

The greatest amount of rubber ever processed by the nation's rubber companies in one year was 540,000 tons. But next year we shall have nearly one million tons to deal with. Obviously, the present facilities will be inadequate.

But the problem is aggravated by the fact that tire manufacturing machinery has been knocked down and stored away so that rubber companies could convert to production for the war. Instead of tires, they have been making rubber boats, balloons, tank treads and life rafts.

Thus we have the problem of finding new plant space in which to bring that machinery back into production, and the further problem of creating entirely new productive facilities to take care of the increased quantities of rubber which will be available for manufacture.

SOLOMONS ISLAND

Few maps of the world show the location of Solomons Island, Maryland, a pinprick in Chesapeake bay. Locally it is famous only for its fishing and the fact that the steamships Leviathan, Mount Vernon and Monticello were laid up there to rust in deference to private shipowners.

Since the war, however, Solomons Island has become an important naval installation, and the navy department recently arranged for the shipment of some airplanes to Solomons Island on an aircraft carrier built for the British in a West coast yard. While the carrier was going through the Panama canal locks, London radioed asking its where-

"We're on our way to Solomons Island," replied the carrier's commanding officer.

"Why are you going to Solomons Island and where is it?" London queried in amazement. "Get in touch with the embassy in Washington," radioed back the ship's commanding officer.

After some anxious moments, London learned in code that the carrier's commanding officer had not mutinied, nor was he going to the Solomon Islands, but to the U. S. naval base at Solomons Island, Maryland.

SMALL BUSINESS BLOW-UP

The government's program for the relief of small business is headed for trouble when congress reconvenes next month.

At secret sessions of the senate small business committee, headed by Senator James Murray of Montana, small business men complained about their inability to get government loans for war contracts and sub-contracts, while billions of dollars of government money is being shelled out to big corporations.

The senate committee heard complaints about the tight-fisted loan policies of the Smaller War Plants corporation.

One example given the senate committee was that of the Riverside Boatyard company of Miami, which tried to get a loan of only $10,000 from the Smaller War Plants corporation to complete a war contract. After being turned down, the company got the $10,000 loan from a private bank within 24 hours.

As a result, Senator James Murray of Montana, chairman of the senate small business committee, is planning some close scrutiny of the Smaller War Plants corporation, d Just before Frank Tinsley, former press aide of the British Supply Council, left to join the Royal Canadian Air force, he wrote the Penn-sylvania railroad: "As a British subject who has lived in the United States for 14 years, mostly as a newspaper man with Reuters, will you grant me one favor on leaving this grand country? Will you let me ride in a locomotive cab of one of your trains to New York, on my way to Canada?" . . . Tinsley left Washington in the cab.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

When you see news photos of soldiers "off duty" in camp or behind the battle-lines-notice how often you'll see them smoking a cigarette, There's a good reason for that. Army officials say that cigarettes are an appreciable factor in maintaining morale-and the soldiers themselves add that a carton of cigarettes from home is always welcome. What brand? Well, sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens show that Camels are the favorite cigarette with men in all the services. Though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen wherever they are,-

Made Administrators

Until the people of France are able to choose a government, the French Committee of National Liberation, operating from Algiers, North Africa, will be recognized merely as an administrative agency of those parts of the French empire over which it has succeeded in obtaining control.

This recognition was made by the United States, Great Britain and Russia. It followed months of wrangling between the factions of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, who has had strong British backing, and Gen. Henri Giraud, who represented the pro-Vichy Darlan group which arranged for American landings in North Africa with Gen. Mr. Baukhage has written today's column from Quebec, site of the Roosevelt-Churchill conference, which he covered for newspapers affiliated with Western Newspaper Union.

Now that some of the deep secrets which surrounded the most important conference so far held by the firm of Roosevelt & Churchill, purforces hurled their might against be revealed in action, one can lean veyors of victory, are beginning to the Nazis farther to the south in back, gaze at this remarkable adventure in history in the makingand wonder

I tained their freedom to move back was sitting with Edgar Mowrer, the well-known newspaper man, Michael Barkway, representative of the British Broadcasting company, and Wilson Woodside, commentator for the Canadian Broadcasting system. That morning the news had broken that Ambassador Litvinov would not return to Washington. It was learned that a virtually unknown member of the Soviet diplomatic corps, who had been their representative in Ottawa, was to replace the adroit Mr. Maisky, Stalin's expert lieutenant in London.

Woodside had learned, quite by accident, that a little while before been an active participator in the parted from our midst-severing the last shadowy link with the Kremlin.

A few days before, just as a rumor was circulating that the conference had agreed upon the division of Germany into separate states as one of the post-war steps, the text of a broadcast from Moscow was printed in an American paper. It was made by the so-called Free Germany committee, and of course could not have voiced any views contrary to the will of Stalin. It urged that the German army be kept intact after | the war!

Stalin's Absence

Of course Stalin's absence from the conference had been widely discussed in Quebec. To say the least we were four very confused members of press and radio, and I think our feelings were typical-two of us had covered international conferences before. Was Russia running a competition show to the one staged on the heights of America's Gibraltar? The shudder we shuddered and which spread out over the telegraph lines and airwaves bounced back to always that the structure of life the walls of the Citadel where the top-men were conferring. At an fore Stalin made public his gesture eight o'clock conference that eve-evening presidential secretary Stephen Early announced that the recall of Litvinov had been known to stalled in Washington for some time the conferees long before it happened and had no influence or effect on the conference.

Meanwhile all sorts of speculation about the effect of the absence of the Russians, the ominous "empty chair," had been pouring out of Quebec, perhaps comforting if not aiding the enemy and probably making

Could this and the other unfortunate things which were written have been avoided; were we, in spite of ourselves, evil muses?

I said to one of the willing but rather futile and frustrated men who were supposed to provide us with facts: if we could have just had a little guidance wouldn't it have been better7

He admitted that was true, but, he added, "When an information man asks the higher ups for information they are so afraid they will say more than they ought to that we get nothing."

More than 200 press, radio and news photographers were here. We filled to bursting the little old Clarendon hotel, with its narrow corridors, its lobby turned into a telerooms made into press room and

Invisible Ink

There is much we did not know when we arrived. There is more we still do not know of what occurred after the conferees met. History was written but it was written in invisible ink.

Now some things can be told. In the first place the event was, perhaps purposely, perhaps unwittingly, played down in Washington in advance. Before I left the capital I was assured the conference would probably end about the Wednesday a week before it did. I had hoped for a quiet half-week's vacation. But no sooner had I arrived on the Sunday preceding Roosevelt's arrival the next Tuesday, than I saw we were all wrong. I felt sure something had happened when the President and the prime minister had perfect; let us find and follow; their preliminary talk at Hyde Park. Something did, for I am sure there had been no intention of producing the parade of cabinet officers and other brass hats who kept dropping in from the skies and elsewhere one after another. But I learned that the length of the conference was planned to a "t" by the President long before it began. He knew it would last precisely as long as it did for he timed his Ottawa trip in advance so he would be back in Washington on August 26. He knew what was coming and that is why he slipped off for that fishing trip, bring others with them. which was just that and nothing more, ahead of the conference-it the family of his father-inwas a health measure pure and sim- (known both as Jethro and Ran

The Big Drive

Meanwhile the press had blown very hot and then very cold on an immediate invasion of Europe from Britain. How to Line Your Casement Curtains

OUAINT chintz curtains are always appropriate for casement windows and their colors give the best effect by day if they are lined to keep the light from shining through. At night they may be drawn together to serve instead of shades if the lining is of fairly heavy material.

The secret of making curtains of this type hang well is in not joining the two layers of material at the bottom. If your windows are narrow, a half width of chintz and of lining may be wide enough for each curtain. Plan them to be wide enough to hang slightly full when drawn together. The lining should be cut one inch narrower and shorter than the chintz. Hem each piece, then place right sides together and stitch side seams, as shown at the right of this sketch. Crease sides with seams on the lining, then stitch across top. The lower sketch shows how the top is finished.

NOTE-Complete directions for making chair seat covers like those in today's skeich may be found on page 8 of Book 1 of the series which Mrs. Spears has prepured for our readers. It also contains directions for slip covers and for curtains of all types. If you want to completely remodel ald chairs, directions may be found in Book 5 of this series. Missing...

Missing in action." You know what that can

Mom says you must be brave. "It's what your father would expect of us," she tells you when it's bedtime and your chin starts to feel shaky. Then she kisses you extra hard and turns her head away so you can't see her eyes.

You've never let her see you cry. Not once, since that telegram came and she twisted it all up in a ball, then smoothed it and put it in the desk.

But, lying in bed, you play "Pretend"-pretend you can hear his step as he comes up to your room -pretend you can feel a stubble brush your forehead. And sometimes, in the dark, you can almost smell a cigarette-y suit close to your face.

Later you dream-dreams that you don't tell about. And in the morning you wake up with that funny, empty feeling in your stomach.

Poor little guy. We-all of us-wish there were something we could do. Perhaps there is. Why shouldn't it be this?

We can resolve that the plans your father had for you shall remain within your reach, that you shall have the chance to grow and learn, that your opportunities will be bounded only by your own ger-up-and-go, that you will progress and prosper in direct relation to your own ability-in a land of freedom and opportunity.

Those are the things your Dad valued, the things for which he gave his life. Though some may strive to change all that-provide you with the "beactits" of an all-powerful government, the "advantages" of regimentation, the "blessings" of bureaucracy-we can resolve they won't succeed.

You, son, won't read these words, and if you did, they wouldn't mean much to you now. But your father's friends-known and unknown-are making you a promise, just the same.

You may never hear it from their lips. But if you were older you would read it in their facesrecognise is in their spirit. They are determined to keep America free. To keep it a land in which agreemment is the servant, not the master of the people. To keep it the kind of America your Dud wanted to preserve-for you.

See Here, Private Hargrove! by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO PAR: Private Marion Hargreye, former feature editor of a North Carolina newspaper, has been inducted toto the army and has spent some time in training at Fort Bragg. In his story he has given prospective inductees considerable advice. Immediamily before induction he advocates a period of "painting the town red." Once in, the new soldier should "keep an open mind" about what he learns because "the first three weeks are bardest." Private Hargrove has been missing the point of some of his essential training and as a result he has had considerable KP duty. Some of his friends have been advanced to Corporal and his Seigeant has asked why he was not promoted.

"Me?" The idea had never occurred to me. "I'm just not the executive type, I suppose. Back at the News, the boss told me that if I stayed there sixty years, I'd never get promoted. I'm just not the type that gets promoted.

"Let's look at the record," said the sergeant. He pulled his little black notebook from his pocket.

"On the drill field Saturday morning, you pulled forty-eight boners eut et fifty marching commands. Everything you did was backwards.

"Friday morning you fell out for reveille without your leggins. Saturday you had your leggins but no field hat. Monday morning neither of your shoes was tied and none of your shirt buttons were buttoned. Tuesday morning it was without leggins again."

"I'm never really awake," I protested, "until ten o'clock."

"You ain't awake then," he against. You snore and disturb your ¢laters, too!"

He was exaggerating there, I told him, I don't snore. And I'm sleepy only on Monday morning. The rest of the time I'm alert and energetic.

"You're too energetic sometimes" he mared. "Just this morning, when the lieutenant was coaching the platoon in rife sighting and you were on fatigue duty as usual! That was a protty one! You ran up and down the buttery street twentytimes in thirty minutes and you saluted the lieutenant every time. you passed been! Do you think he win't got a thing to do but return pour naister all morning?"

This was suidently a rhetorical question, so I didn't answer it. "You don't saidle an officer every

This is not the beautiful goldbricking life that it seems, though. The mess sergeant has to make requisitions and keep records on all the rations, he has to make out the menus, see that the food is prepared properly and supervise the work of the cooks, the student cooks, and the kaypees. Besides this, he must listen to all the gripes about his food and to the threadbare jokes about cooks who get drunk from lemon and vanilla extract.

All this he must do, with his brains baked out.

The cook, lucky little rascal that he is, also leads an ideal life. He is allowed to believe that he knows more about cooking then the mess sergeant will ever know, although he is not supposed to tell the mess sergeant that he does. He works one day and sleeps the next two.

If the cook is not feeling cheerful, he can pick on at least one student cook and at least five kaypees. On the battlefield, he is in the safest position behind the lines, since the food is endowed with more sentimental value than the top sergeant. The jokes about Army cooks being shot at from both sides are not based upon fact.

However, friend cook has to greet the morn before the morn gets there. On the days when he works, he has to get up between 3:00 and 3:30 o'clock in order to prepare a substantial breakfast for about two hundred healthy, growing boys whose appetites are exceeded only by the size of their mouths and the power of their lungs.

Yesterday we started to school, with cookbooks and manuals and loose-leaf notebooks for our homework. The only way in which it butts around the post exchange first differed from public schools was that thing in the morning. Then you the naughty boys didn't have to go and sit with the girls. Also, the dunce seat, instead of being in the corner of the classroom, was said to be behind a large sack of potatoes in the battery kitchen.

The only hope for an easy time in class was gone in this school. There's no percentage in bringing a shiny red apple to a teacher who has the key to at least one wellstocked pantry.

In the kitchen, they tell us, all the cleaning-up work is to be done by the kaypees, so that the cook scotted. "Every Monday morning things. This, unfortunately, doesn't may be doing more important without fail I have to wake you up apply to the daily task of cleaning at least a dozen times. I have to the stoves thoroughly. The stoves, grinding.

It isn't worth the time to wait for the stoves to get comfortably cool before you begin the twilight beautification of these overgrown infernos. In order to avoid the rush at the theater, and to let the kaypees off early, start work now.

The stoves must be cleaned inaide and out-thoroughly. First, shake down the fire. All the live coals must go into the ashpan under the grate. That much is simple. Then remove the ashpan, red coals and all. It must be dumped into the ash can out on the garbage rack. This entire procedure should be simple, too, it says here. All you have to do is catch the front handle with a heavy glove and catch the little book in the rear with the far end of your cap lifter. Here we

Isn't gas a wonderful fuel?

Private Sher and I were sitting out on the back steps to dodge the cleaning work going on inside when we saw the sergeant bearing down on us from the other end of the battery street.

"It's no use scooting inside, Hargrove," said Sher. "He's already seen us. Look tired, as if you'd already done your part of the work." Private Sher is the goldbricking champion of Battery A and always knows what to do in such an emergency

We both draped expressions of fatigue over our faces and the sergeant skidded to a halt before us. He reached into his hip pocket for the little black book and aimed a finger at both of us.

"Burns!" he shouted. "Burns! I worked my fingers to the bone yesterday morning getting this platoon It has passed the time of putting up to pretty up the barracks for inspection. Comes inspection and two privates have dirty shoes lying sprawled all over the floor under their bunks! Private Hargrove and MISTER Private Sher! Report to Corporal Farmer in fatigue clothes.'

We reported to Corporal Farmer, who looked at his list of jobs. "As much as you don't deserve it," he said, "you two goldbricks are in line for canteen police."

Mr. Private Sher and I walked up the battery street toward the can-

"Just be inconspicious," said Sher. "That's all there is to it. Please pick up that candy wrapper over there. My back aches."

We cleaned up the grounds around the post exchange and sat for a while in the shade, watching a battery going through calisthenics. With beautiful precision, the soldiers swung their rifles up, down, to the right, to the left. They went through the quarter, half, and full knee bends and the shoulder exercises and the rest of the routine. "Those boys seem to be improvuse for pickling and preserving. Pickles may be of either the fruit or vegetable variety for there are a great many varieties of pickles. Fruit pickles can be made in a short time, but those made from vegetables require a longer timesometimes as long as several weeks.

The best cucumber pickles take several weeks in order to complete the pickling process and make them crisp in texture, dark green in color. Sugar is introduced gradually to the cucumber after it has had a preliminary treatment in brine or vinegar. Crisp Pickles.

How does one get crisp pickles is the question most frequently asked in pickling. Select fresh, ripe rather than over-ripe vegetables and fruits for pickling. Over-mature and stale vegetables will shrivel during the pickling process.

Old spices and low grade vinegar are other causes of pickle failure. It's important to use vinegar which has a strength of 40-60. Cider vinegar is usually preferred because of its mellow flavor. As a rule onions and cauliflower, which are light, require a white vinegar to make a light-colored pickle. Both types of stand 3 hours, vinegars serve to modify the taste Drain. TREATMENT OF EPILEPSY

A few years ago the recognized treatment for epilepsy was the use of bromides. Bromides are drugs which depress or quiet irritable producing sleep. They are useful drugs. However, as they had to be used continuously in epileptics to prevent or relieve attacks, the patient was usually in a depressed and often a melanchely condition While the cause of epilepsy is still unknown, thousands of epileptics now have no attacks and the attacks in others are so mild that little thought is given to them. However, the great advance in the treatment of epilepsy did not occur by chance. Patient scientific investigation of all the circumstances that could possibly enter into the cause of epilepsy and the trying of methods of treatment has, in most cases, made the lives of epileptics much happier and less embarrassing and distressing. Dr. D. S. Polk, in the Pennsylvania Medical Journal, states that a broad or all round investigation should be made in seeking the cause of epilepsy in children. There must be careful investigation of the child's adjustment to his surroundings and any physical defects or abnormal conditions removed. Infected teeth, diseased tonsils and adenoids, gland disturbances should be removed or corrected, and nourishing food assured.

What is called the ketogenic diet is still the basis of treatment; this diet increases the fat foods-butter, cream, egg yolks-and decreases the starch foods-potatoes, bread, sug-

The drug used by Dr. Polk to prevent or control the attacks in children living at home or as patients in the Philadelphia Children's Hospital clinic is sodium dilantin. This drug able time in years in the "hay fever a reaction which has prevented some physicians from using it despite the fact that phenobarbital has failed to give satisfactory results in their cases. Dr. Polk states that sodium dilantin is very effective in preventing or decreasing the convulsions in epilepsy and in "ordinary" doses does not depress the other brain processes; that there is a wide margin between the ordinary dose and the dangerous dose. Further, even where there are mild reactions from sodium dilantin, the physician and patient may feel confident that these mild disturbances will disappear. In the diet treatment, liquids are decreased, as too much liquid in the tissues may bring on an attack.

Sick Infants Need 'Mothering'

When we think of how the death rate at birth, and during the first year, has been reduced from about three in every 10 children to less than three in every 20, it is naturally gratifying. And when we think further and realize that children can be rendered safe from the children's diseases that formerly carried away so many, we are even more gratified. Naturally, much of this saving of children's lives has been made possible by hospital investigation and treatment.

However, every physician realizes that what is called the human touch, element or equation, has much to do with how a child patient progresses murs and groans have never been during his stay in hospitals.

Infants in hospitals sleep less than those who are at home, they rarely smile or babble of their own accord, they are listless, uninterested in their surroundings and unhappy, the appetite is indifferent and food is accepted without enthusiasm, and nose, throat and chest infections which last only a day or two at home often persist for months in hospital. The infants are lonely.

To make the child still more lonely, he is often placed in a room by himself when an infection breaks out in a ward.

To help remove this loneliness and give the child some "mothering," the internes and nurses in Bellevue hospital, New York city, are encouraged to mother, cuddle and play with the infants at every opportunity and parents are invited to the ward and invited to fondle the children. This "mothering" has caused a marked drop in the infant death rate at Bellevue hospital.

FEVER RELIEF

Hay fever, which annually causes more sneezes, more inflamed noses and more red, streaming eyes than any other scourge, may have its final big fling this September, all because a Pennsylvania electrical engineer was served a dish of corn meal mush which was entirely too

The engineer, sneezing, and with all other hay fever manifestations, stopped at a hotel where he was served a dish of mush which he considered sending back as it was much too salty. Finally he ate it, however; the hay fever attack les sened, ultimately ceased. Next day he had three meals, all oversalted,

His analytical mind quickly grasped the possibility that the saline substance in his food was responsible for his relief.

About this time, Dr. E. E. Sel-leck, a graduate of Columbia University, met the engineer, made notes, and when he returned to his home, began experiments. Today Dr. Selleck declares he has found a certain means of relief for hay fever and is supported in his contention by other medical experts, and a nationally known chemical manufacturing concern, the Hol-lings-Smith Company, at Orange-burg, New York, has taken over making the remedy, which is called Describing the experiments, Dr. Selleck said, "After I was sure I had found a means of quickly relieving hay fever through the chloride group, I tested it in the most practical way I knew. I held a three day clinic, to which many hay fever sufferers responded from ages ranging from 10 to 60 years. Each person was given two tablets with a little water. Some relief came to all within ten minutes. Reports on these cases during the ensuing weeks showed practically a complete cessation of symptoms."—Adv.
